SHOWING UP IN FINE SHAPE.

Bullion Canyon Milling & Mining Company's Great Prospects.

FINE CARBONATE ORE IN TUNNEL.

Possibility of Being an Immense Body of High Grade Ore Which Will Make the Co. Millionaires.

Since our last issue more news of an encouraging character has been brought in from Bullion Canyon by parties who are at work for the Bullion Canyon Milling and Mining Co. In the face of the company's 200 foot tunnel a fine body of high class carbonate ore has been struck and in their double compartment shaft 800 feet away the same sort of ore is encountered as is also the case in their single shaft. Some of the stockholders begin to put on airs already; "Doc. Smith" smiles all over his face as he explains to our unsophisticated reporter the possibilities of such a situation. It is quite possible that this fine ore that has been encountered at the three points may extend all the way from the one to the other and get better in quality the farther it goes down. Should this prove to be the case it is possible that the famous Cactus mine in Beaver county would be a comparatively small proposition and Mr. Samuel Newhouse under such circumstances would doubtless be proud of the society of the representatives of the company at his next great social function. Under such a stimulus Attorney Ryan looks several inches taller, Bp. Corry many degrees more cheerful, and J. R. Rickards twenty years younger. We wish them prosperity beyond the doctor's wildest dreams, if that is possible.

Cedar people deeply regret the death of Mr. O. M. Ladd, the representative of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company, who has been so intimately associated with the extension and developments of the interests of that company for the last two or three years. Mr. Ladd has many friends among our people who feel that his course has been an honorable and honest one and that he has done all in his power towards the opening up of the mining interests of the County of Iron. The gentleman died at Denver last Tuesday from appendicitis, having undergone an unsuccessful operation for that complaint a day or two previous.

Sheep shearing has commenced at Milford says the Milford Times, and wool buyers are remarkably scarce. 20,000 pounds have been purchased, by a veteran wool buyer named Clinton, at 12½ cents per pound, and a shipment of lambs, wool, the property of Commissioner Day of this county, brought 12½ cents per pound. Mr. Clinton says that buyers will be likely to be careful in the matter of prices this year, as every wool merchant in the country lost money last year. It is expected that prices will be about the same as they were last year.

CITY COUNCIL WORK.

Complaints to be Investigated—Duty of Water to be Ascertained—Bills Allowed.

A special session of the City Council was held on the 14th inst at which the mayor and Councilors Heyborne, Palmer, Jones and Jones were present. After the usual opening preliminaries, including the reading of the minutes of the last meeting of the council, were disposed of, Councilor Palmer reported that some complaints were made that errors had been made in some instances in the assessment of the frontage tax that had been assessed for laying the city mains. Councilor T. J. Jones was appointed to confer with the treasurer on the subject and correct any error that appears on the schedule of said assessment.

Opinion of Judge S. R. Thurman in relation to city water was read and ordered filed. Bill of the agent of the Inter-Mountain Pipe Company for laying the first carload of pipe in the city mains was presented and allowed. Committee on irrigation and water supply was instructed to confer with the directors of the various water companies who use the waters of Coal Creek and unite with them in taking the necessary measures to determine the duty of water, as established by the state engineer, and apply the same to the provisions of the decree that was made by the district court in relation to the waters of Coal Creek.

Bill of Inter-Mountain Pipe Company for the second car load of pipe was presented and allowed, less the usual twenty per cent retained till the completion of the contract. Bill of city watermaster for labor of employees of city on town ditches for $30, was presented and allowed. Other bills for various matters aggregating $47.45 were allowed, and council adjourned without date.

Mr. Kennedy, the efficient agent of the Cincinnati, Utah and Wyoming Oil Company, returned Thursday from a trip to the Dixie country, where he has been for the purpose of examining some of the copper and other mining prospects in that section.

LATEST NEWS FROM PAROWAN.

Visit of Relief Society and Primary Officers.

ARBOR DAY OBSERVANCES, ETC.

Conference Visitors Report—Poor Looking Trees—Reason and Wisdom Lectures.

April 20, 1904.

On Saturday and Sunday members of the R. S. and Primary stake officers visited the wards in the southern part of the stake, returned feeling their labors were not without profit.

Wm. J. Conger has been delivering fruit trees from the Provo Nursery the past two days, but unless they turn out to be better than they look his business along these lines will not be very flourishing another season. We will hope for the best, however.

The B. N. students are writing joyful letters over the appointment of the new principal of that institution. While the parents can but acknowledge the wisdom of the Board of Regents, the appointment would have been difficult to excel, in view of natural gifts and educational competency, even in Salt Lake City.

Arbor day was observed by the district school children cleaning the rubbish from the city park in which they are allowed to recreate. A few trees were also planted, but the 15th of April is altogether too late in the season for tree planting in this vicinity if they are expected to thrive. A tree planting day is very commendable, but should be observed earlier in the season that the children may see the results of their efforts.

At the Sabbath services, Mr. Matheson, Joseph Bentley and Wilford Day gave reports of their conference visit at Salt Lake. All had enjoyed themselves. Mrs. Hannah Smith Dalton was invited by Bishop Richards to address the congregation. Mrs. Dalton lived in Parowan formerly, being the daughter of Jesse M. Smith. Twenty-three years since she moved to Colorado. It gave her great pleasure to visit the town of her birth and mingle with her host of relatives and friends who duly reciprocated the lady's sentiments.

The lectures last Thursday by Prof. Geo. Decker and State Supt. Nelson were gems of reason and wisdom, invaluable to fathers and mothers who wish to perform their full duty in child training. Thoughts were advanced that might assist any parent desiring to control the desires and habits of the child. Many have said they would not have missed the instructions for any price. It was free gratis, given for pure love of humanity's cause. Better than all the "Duffy" shows that ever was, or will be given.

April 21, 1904.

B. F. Cummings will give an illustrated lecture on "Greek Gods and Goddesses." This information should be a great benefit to the Senior classes of the Y. L. M. I. A. in the ancient Literature line of work.

Mr. O. M. Ladd was not extensively known in this vicinity, but his acquaintances feel sorrowful over his death. To know him was to cherish the memory of an honest, reliable and all around good man.

Yesterday morning our fruit orchards were one splendid bouquet, but this morning they are a representation of "After the Ball." The fruit prospects are doubtlessly injured. Weather still cold and threatening frost and the end looks dubious.

The Gold Haven and part of the Creole patented mining claims in the Stateline mining district were transferred by Wm. J. McBurney, et al., April 15th, to the Creole Mining and Milling Co., for the fictitious one dollar consideration.

A longer list of parents names should be found as visitors on the district school registers. It is encouraging and interesting to note the regime and discipline by which our children are governed and instructed, as well as the variations in methods by which visitors are received and dismissed.

MONARCH CO. MATTERS.

A. B. Lewis Says Big Corporation Will Take Over Majestic.

(Salt Lake Herald.)

A. B. Lewis, who has been in New York for several weeks taking a hand in the organization of the new Monarch company, reached home yesterday morning. He brings assurances that the details attending the rounding out of the big undertaking are being worked out as fast as any reasonable person ought to expect, and early in the month, if not before, he believes the company will be ready to cut loose in earnest.

It has been settled, Mr. Lewis reports, that the Majestic company will go into the combination; in fact, five-sixths of the stock has already been turned in, so that feature of the deal is no longer in doubt. The receivership and bankruptcy proceedings, he felt, everybody was familiar with and he therefore declined to discuss them further than to say that directors of the Majestic company were directly responsible for the bringing up of the latter when it was found that a receivership had been applied for and granted. That the whole matter would work out all right he said there was no doubt, and it would not be long till all of the company's obligations would be met.

The Monarch organization, Mr. Lewis declared, was one of the most powerful engaged in the mining industry today, but he did not feel at liberty to discuss either its make up or intentions at this time. The nature of the business bringing him home was not for publication, nor did Mr. Lewis know how long he would remain this trip.

The Youth's Companion editor, says the Salt Lake Sun, must have had the Salt Lake Herald before him when he penned the following:

City newspapers at a great deal of expense print for country contemporaries a picture of the country, and a time a "funny column" made up wholly of selections from the rural weeklies.

Persons who live in New York or Chicago or Boston are amused to learn that "Mrs. Jim Belcher of Blings Corners has had her woodshed and back fence painted red," or that "Silas Twombly has lost thirty chickens from the pig." Such news seems to them absurdly trivial, and trivial it is, of course. But "life is made up of trivialities." The only question is: Are they trivialities in which we are interested?

The reader who laughs at these items in the country weekly goes through the column of two-line local news items in his city daily without a smile. He reads with dignity the account of the accident to "Mary Ann Higgins, a servant, who fell on the ice and broke her leg," and the "fifty-dollars fine which damaged Jones's all-night lunch cart." Is the one kind of reading any more ridiculous than the other—or rather, any less?

City and country have each its own interests, and both kinds of editors try to give their readers what they want. Doubtless both succeed in fair measure; how well, many a city man who was born in the country may decide for himself by glancing over the old home weekly which he still receives. In that paper items which he would laugh at if he found them anywhere else will strike him with a thrill of pleasure or a pang of sympathy. The reason is, he knows the people.

Best Cough Medicine for Children.

When you buy a cough medicine for small children you want one in which you can place implicit confidence. You want one that not only relieves but cures. You want one that is unquestionably harmless. You want one that is pleasant to take. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy meets all of these conditions. There is nothing so good for the coughs and colds incident to childhood. It is also a certain preventative and cure for croup, and there is no danger whatever from whooping cough when it is given. It has been used in many epidemics of that disease with perfect success.

FINE UTAH FRUIT FOR WORLD'S FAIR.

State Board of Horticulture Makes Provision For Display.

A CAR LOAD IS TO BE SHIPPED.

Will Include Semi-Tropical Fruits of Dixie.—Other Business of the Board.

The Salt Lake Tribune of the 12th inst. says:

Arrangements for the Utah fruit exhibit at the St. Louis fair occupied the greater part of the attention of the State Board of Horticulture at its meeting yesterday afternoon. A carload of Utah's choicest fruits, including the semi-tropical products of St. George and Dixie, the fine fruits of Moab and eastern Utah, and the hardier varieties of the northern and central parts of the state will be sent to the exposition about October 1st, to be in readiness for Utah day, October 10th. One of the features of Utah day will be the distribution of fruits from this state among the crowds. Each member of the Board of Horticulture will look after the collection of the fruit exhibit from his part of the state.

President Judd of the board leaves today for St. Louis to assist in preparing Utah's general exhibit for the opening day of the fair, April 30th. He takes with him a very elegant display of silks grown in Dixie, made into fancy articles of various sorts. The worms were grown in the gardens of a number of St. George ladies, the silks were spun by them and the articles are all hand made. The display is decidedly unique and attractive.

Reports of the fruit conditions made at yesterday's meeting, which was held in the board room, room 413, Deseret News Annex, showed the fact that all early fruits, including almonds, peaches and apricots, in the southern part of the state, and peaches and apples in the eastern portion, were seriously damaged by the March frosts. The trees in those sections were well advanced in bloom when the freeze came, and the result was disastrous, the almond crop being almost completely destroyed. The grape crop at St. George is safe and there is good promise for all fruits in the northern and central portions of the state. The prospect is, in fact, for a banner year for fruit in these sections if the orchards are kept clean and reasonably free from pests. The board finds that many new orchards are being planted this spring, cherries being the favored tree in the new planting.

Members in attendance upon the meeting yesterday were Thomas Judd of St. George, president; Joseph H. Parry of Salt Lake, secretary; Mons Peterson of Moab and B. H. Bower of Provo.

A Job With Drawbacks.

I'd like to be the sultan.
With thirty wives or more
To quickly do my bidding,
To open and shut the door;
With one to earn my stockings
And one to brush my hat,
And one to bring my paper,
And one for my cravat;
With one to wash my tongsies
And one to dry the same,
With one to cook my pancakes
And one to roast the game;
With ten to mind the babies
When I would take a nap.
I'd like to be the sultan;
The job must be a snap.
I'd like to be the sultan—
But let me think a bit—
With thirty different women
How long would I be it?
While one of them was pouting
And one of them was weeping
Because she couldn't boss,
And one of them was sulking
And one was breaking plates
To show her independence
Before her pretty mates;
With ten of them declaring
To ma right home they'd go
If hats were not forthcoming
And tickets for the show,
I doubt if I could handle
With pleasure such a mob.
I wouldn't be the sultan;
I'll let him keep the job.
